

A vibrant rainbow arches across a dark, stormy sky over a green, rolling landscape. The rainbow is the central focus, with its colors clearly visible against the grey clouds. The landscape below is lush and green, with rolling hills and a few small structures in the distance. The overall mood is one of hope and resilience.

The winds have subsided and we have held fast
We have not succumbed to the rain
The sun makes its way through the darkest of clouds
And His promise appears once again